Iowa County to Introduce Unisyn OpenElect Voting System from RBM Consulting
Marshall County partners with RBM for certified and more reliable voting equipment

Chicago, IL— March 11, 2014 – The Marshall County Commissioner of Elections and Board of Supervisors has awarded RBM Consulting a contract to provide the county’s 19 precincts with the Unisyn OpenElect® optical scan voting system starting with the June 3rd primary election.

Marshall County’s 26,000+ registered voters will have substantially the same experience at the polls with this system, making the transition seamless to the voters, while improving the efficiency of election administration for Marshall’s election division. Having the foresight to budget, save and plan to replace the 15-year-old equipment, Marshall County did extensive research to find the best voting technology solution paired with the right solutions provider.

The Commissioner of Elections and the Board of Supervisors chose RBM and the Unisyn system for distinct administrative advantages that will be provided to the county election division, including improved service, enhanced digital voting technology, better reporting capabilities, added flexibility and lower maintenance costs. Marshall County will partner with RBM Consulting to implement the system, which has been certified to the Voting Systems Guidelines from the U.S. Election Assistance Commission for use in Iowa.

“After extensive research, we chose the RBM/Unisyn system because it allowed us to have a turn-key solution we can operate and manage from day one. RBM is well-known for their voting expertise and their exceptional customer service. It was the perfect partnership and solution for us to provide our voters with the most seamless and efficient voting experience,” said Dawn Williams, Marshall County Commissioner of Elections.

Marshall County also contracts other election services through RBM including ballot printing, election equipment programming and support.

“Marshall County is leading the way in bringing the most technologically advanced, secure and certified vote equipment and processes to its voters,” said Dan McGinnis, Managing Partner of RBM Consulting. “We’re proud to be part of their elections team.”

The RBM and Unisyn partnership delivers election products and services tailored to fit all jurisdictions' election requirements. The combined experience of the two companies brings counties extensive election experience, a highly-knowledgeable and trained staff, and full-service and support.
